A: When you say i found that the most part of pictures, then, are from the internet, and i do not know if they are copyrighted or not. Sorry for my bad english. , you are implying that you did not take any of these pictures, that it is a list of pictures that you found online, and that you do not know if they are copyrighted. That means that you are now distributing copyrighted material without permission. In other words, you are a copyright infringer. The copyright holder can choose to sue you. The most common method of defining a primary key is to use the IDENTITY property, which when used in a table definition creates a unique column in which a value will automatically be generated and maintained whenever a new row is inserted. In some cases, however, it is

start the first value in the sequence and the increment value is used to create each value in the sequence. When you create a sequence, you have to specify the seed value and the increment value. These properties can be specified when you create the sequence or when you use the AS clause.

Specify the seed value and the increment value. This example specifies a seed value of 100 and an increment of 1. You create the sequence and seed the first value. The sequence started from 1.
